

Rene Tonnisson

Rene Tõnnisson is working as member of executive board of Institute of Baltic Studies. He has gained significant experience in innovation management and cluster development while being member of executive boards of Tartu Science Park, Tartu Biotechnology Park, Baltic Innovation Agency and Connect Estonia. He has been responsible for wide range of cluster, innovation, technology and business related activities. He was the founding member of the biggest European cluster regions network Cluster Linked over Europe (CLOE). As the project Coordinator for Estonian Innovation Relay Centre (IRC) he was member of IRC Cluster Working Group. He has acted as cluster policy expert within several regional innovation strategy projects in many countries in Europe but also in China and India. Rene Tõnnisson holds a Master degree in Public Administration and Policy from University of Tartu, Estonia and Certificat d'Etudes Politiques from Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Strasbourg (Sciences Po), Université de Robert Schuman. He has also been studying at the University of Cambridge and the European University Institute.

